

THE KNOWLEDGE TO GO FAR

What difference would the right knowledge at the right time make at your plant?

*If you want to go fast
go alone
If you want to go far go together*

ADVISOR TO CEMENT PLANTS

CemWise creates knowledge foundations

We make consequences clear and good decision-making straightforward. By sharing and communicating our technical expertise skillfully, we create the clarity and understanding that inspires action and empowers collaboration.

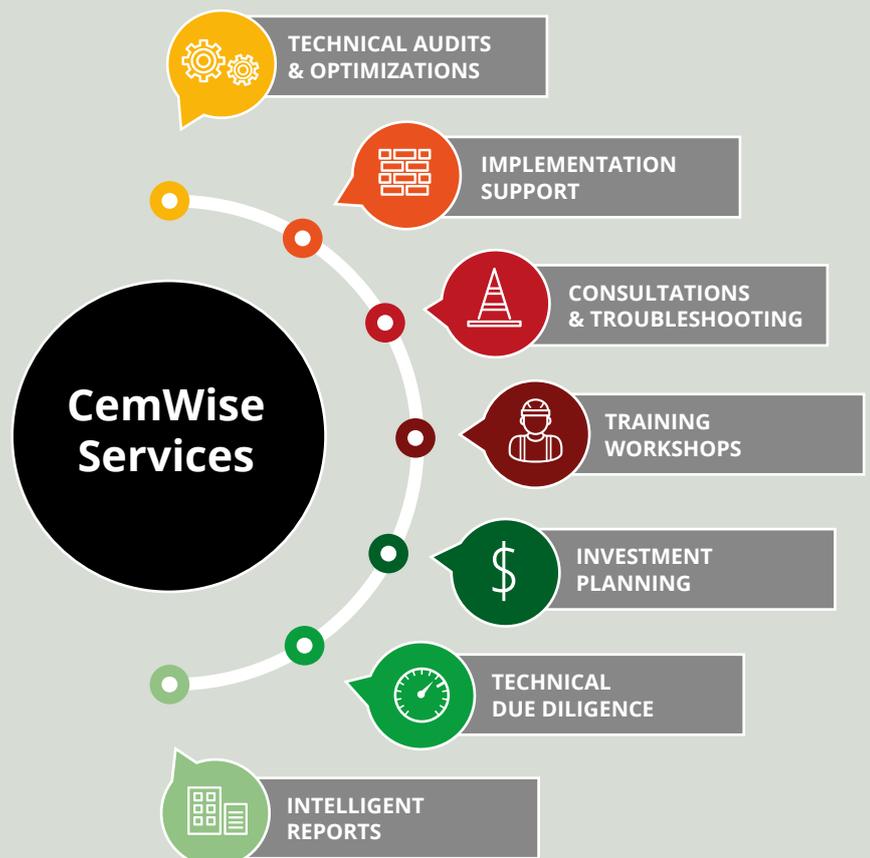

Our roots are deep in the cement industry

CemWise specialists combine expert knowledge of process and machinery design with hard-won experience of what is important in daily plant operation. We cover the fields from quarry to dispatch with an end-to-end perspective to optimize total performance.

CemWise is devoted to long-term partnerships

We are driven by a sincere interest in people, and we understand that management has a different need for information than the technician with a work order in hand.

Our explanations and recommendations are meticulously structured to meet both needs.

A PROACTIVE MINDSET

To know the difference between 'urgent and important' and 'urgent and nonimportant' issues is a challenge to anyone in today's world of far too much information. When an important issue suddenly requires firefighting, the doubts are gone, but at the cost of an expensive urgency with no time to examine best solutions.

So how do we ensure that we spent our time wisely solving the right issues at the right time?

The CemWise way is to take a step back and direct attention towards the issues in the II quadrant of the decision matrix – the issues that are important, but not urgent.

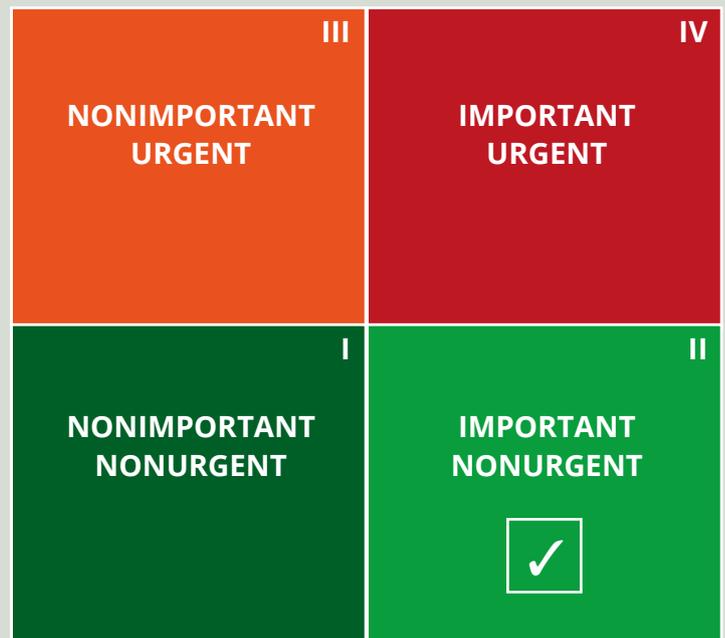

To steadily solve the issues at this stage is the heart of a proactive mindset and a high stability operation

ACTION PLANS AND FOLLOW-UP

CemWise not only makes practical recommendations, we also structure them in Action plans that we discuss with plant staff on follow-up meetings. We want the knowledge foundations, that we create to be live tools that are consulted and applied in daily operation long after we have left site.

IMPORTANCE

"CemWise is profoundly practical in their approach to consulting clients. They make sure they thoroughly understand your objectives, before they draw in a broader perspective that can often be difficult to see when you are living with an issue close-up. Their recommendations are always well thought through and to the point, which creates clarity also in very complex issues with many diverse factors at play."
